::breaths deep:: Bussiness. It's the American way... But first: Is anybody willing to come to both the NY shows with me? Hence spending a minimum of $100 dollars on tickets? Second row seats the first night, and front row the second. Sound tempting? It'd be grand. I'm having a pre-party with Ben and his super cool friends. And my paaarents. Oh, yeah. And, you could just come for one night too...if you don't have enough money. OI OI. Ok, now down to bussiness. On Monday night I have 2 second row tickets to sell. E-mail me if you're interested. I think I'm charging about 50 bucks, because that's 3 dollars less than I bought them for...see, I love you people.... You want to come. You want to come. You want to come. Natalie, with soggy noodles. I'm off like a prom dress. Cheap Wigs BLOG.. <http://cheapwigs.blogspot.com>

Ooh rok! Yes, pre-party, that's right... Well, actually, it turns out my friend Bren can't come, so I'll only have 2 friends to entertain, and... I have a 6th row centre ticket to sell! Whoever wants to buy it, please do! Now! NOW!!! Name a price, I think... I don't really care, I'm not one who likes to profit. I guess I'll sell it for less than Nat's cuz it's not as good a seat... or something. Just email me if you're interested, ok people?
