What's up everyone, well the last couple weeks here in the midwest(Mn) have been really barren, the only new stuff was at TRU and I won't buy stuff there anymore so I mostly hit the Wal-Marts and Targets, now only mostly Targets since the guy at Wal-Mart gets payola from the local Hot Wheels jerk....well anyway with the two Targets by my work not getting anything new in the last few weeks and me almost giving up toys I decided to try a new plan of attack. Last Saturday at both Targets I cleaned house so to speak I started w/the Spawn and worked my way down compressing all the toy lines down to about 1/4 of the aisle, talk about barren it looked horrible, it took 20 minutes, I also did the same at the Greatland Target that day. Well Sunday morning I went back all the toys at the first Target were spread out making the dept. look fuller than it was?? Someone noticed my handy work but no new toys, CRAP!!! I reset all my work from the previous day and went to the Greatland the toys were not rearranged but no new stuff??????? Do they even restock this place? Well Monday roles around Greatland first surprise Batman two-packs galore Swoops, Speederbikes, Slave I's and 13inch Spawn and Angela lots of X-men stuff too, finally hooray!!!! Tuesday regular Target Spawn 5, Slave I, Batman two-packs, X-men, lots of new stuff, my plan worked every morning these stores have put out more and more toys to fill in the gaps and spaces new Trek, Star Wars and others.....and lots of them...my point well if your going to be standing in the toy dept for a few minutes do some cleaning and maybe you'll find they restock a little sooner than usually or maybe not, but it worked for me..... And both of these stores get toys on Tuesdays and Thursdays only I know because a freinds wife is a clerk at one, and go I go both every morning on my way to work..... tracer
