Stop taking the medication and contact your doctor immediately. 3. Brown, black, blue, or green-colored urine. This effect is harmless. RE: #3, WTF! I've never seen that particular Side Effect with any drugs.. They say it's harmless, but wow.. no fun.. Anyways, anyone tried it? DG DeceitfulGenius <DeceitfulGen...@sbcglobal.net wrote in message

Thx, DG Useless shit I'm afraid, no recreational value at all unless you regard being a bit floppy as recreational. They can be some use to some people when withdrawing from opiates just to take down the leg twitches a bit, but generally not worth the effort of taking them. AG

Anyone ever take Methocarbamol?(muscle relaxant) I've come across some 750mg tabs, and am wondering if they're any fun.. Yeah, I don't know about any real recreational value, but I take'em for neck cramps and in combo with a couple somas to help me fall asleep sometimes. As far as pissing colors go, I remember that in boarding school some kids who had to take a piss test for some reason of another would take a dye used for finding fish eggs in a tank called methylene blue that would do nothing to you except go right thru you and turn your piss blue. Or accordingly, sometimes it would turn it green since yellow and blue make green.

They say it's harmless, but wow.. no fun.. Anyways, anyone tried it? I've taken Robaxin (ie Methocarbamol) and my urine turned a LITTLE blue, lighter than the sanitary 2000 flushes stuff you put in your toilet, but not black. But, this is NOTHING to worry about. When women get urinary tract infections we are often put on a medication called Pyridium (now OTC in a lower strength) and it turns the urine red or orange, like Kool-Aid?. It's no biggie. Is a muscle relaxer, but I don't think it's what you guys are looking for. It's not even a good muscle relaxer, really. Did nothing for me at ALL, so don't even mess with it. Listen to this....if a side effect happens to even the SMALLEST population of people in the study, they HAVE to list it in these pamphlets. That's the way it goes. But the peeing thing is true. Hey, even if you eat a lot of beets you will pee purple/red too, so there. Every drug has the potential to cause some harm in one way or another, it's just that some things are a bit more rare, like the peeing blue/black thing. DON'T take it just to see if you will pee blue or black...Robaxin, which is the brand name, is usually taken 1-2 tablets every 4-6 hours. But, it is NOT recreational. Nikki  This has nothing to do with methocarbamol but, I wonder if anyone ever seen the movie The Madness of King George ? His doctors, and I use the term purely for labelling purposes, were obsessed with King George's urine. He had a disorder called porphyria, IIRC. His urine was purple. Good movie. Nigel Hawthorne played the title character. I now return you to your regularly scheduled programme. --Anna+-

In the UK the tablets are white are yours (USA) a different colour or something ?. No they are white, and chalky. I think it's just a rare side effect. VERY rare. So rare in fact that I don't think that it's printed up in patient leaflets at the pharmacy when you get the prescription. It may be in the PDR. I also took it for a long time and only had a couple of instances of light blue urine..very light. I still take it now and then when things get bad, but nothing helps anymore....nothing. It's to the point that I almost don't want to live like this. UGH. Sorry..LOL...didn't mean to bring anyone down. You were on my mind today, I was wondering how Shadow is doing? I can't fully sympathize with all your illnesses, but I know what it's like to constantly be ill. I know I don't have it nearly as rough as some of you out here, but I am so low right now. I have been having medical problems for almost 3 years, but within the past 6 months things have taken a turn for the worse. I feel defeated. It's as if no amount of medication can ease my pain or make me healthy again. I think of Durt and OUTLAAWW and you and I feel like a big cry baby, but I am so tired of having to take handfuls of pills every few hours. I can't stop crying all day and just wanting to die. Good thing I lack the guts to do it myself, huh? How do you guys deal with it? HOW???? Any words of advice would mean so much to me. How do you live when everything in your life is wrong? Kerrie ~Ladie*K~ time in high school, my friends and I had stolen a big ole bottle of Southern Comfort. It was December and we were all hanging at 'The Arcade', a small shopping plaza thing. We were already pretty drunk when someone went to one of the cafes and bought a cup of hot cocoa. We then decided to mix the Southern Comfort w/ the cocoa, making So.Co. Cocoa. Maybe I was already too drunk, but it tasted pretty darn good. Another time my best friend & I made up a drink called Menstruation. Can you tell RI is fucking boring or what? I'm not much of a drinker though. I have a HUGE family history of alcoholics too. The only booze in my house right now is a bottle of champagne. I WAS saving it but what the hell.... ~Ladie*K~ Cheers! Just looking at a bottle of S. Comfort makes me retch. At the tavern I frequent they serve a drink called the lunchbox <~~don't ask why I have no idea. It's a shotglass full of the S.C. put in a glass of orange juice, then topped off with <GAG beer. Is that the most vile thing you ever heard of? Was the menstruation drink a variation of the Bloody Mary? Please don't tell me you pulled a Clarence Thomas and put a hair on the glass! Ok that was gross shutting up now. spacytracy~  Some fucking drug addict has cut my cocaine with Saniflush!
